A QUESTION AND ANSWER.

The San Francisco Alta always goes blundering round like a corn cob in a swill tub, but we did not expect it could make so stupid a mistake as to publish the following:

The Republican party, and President Grant in particular, have been arranged in this campaign by the Opposition, for the bad local government in some Southern States. As a matter of fact, three, or at most four States, have complained of bad local government at the South-Georgia, South Carolina, Alabama, and Louisiana, (the Governor of the latter is a Greeley man). But admitting the fact, the question arises: What has the Re publican party to do with the local government in those States?

Th

The question should rather be: What is there in the local government of those States that the Republican party has not to do with? The absurdity of the Alta's question well illustrates its dense ignorance of the matter it attempts to discuss. It says "only three, or at most four Southern States, have complained of bad local government." What has been done with Arkansas, Mississeppi, Florida, Texas and North Carolina. Has not the Republican party something to do with the local government of those States? It ought to have, for its members have been steadily stealing from those States, as well as the others that the Alta names for the last four years. The men who do the swindling say they are Republicans. They sent delegates to the Philadelphia Convention which nominated Grant. He calls them Republicans, so does Cameron, Nye, Stewart, Conkling, Morton and all the rest of that crowd. If they are not Republicans what are they? We mean politically, for we know their other name. If they did not have all to do with the local government of the Southern States. who did? If the local government were not in Republican hands how is it that they manage to steal about $160,000 .-000, and then build palaces with their plunder, like Scott of South Carolina has done in Ohio and Bullock of Georgia in Canada. If they are not Republicans who have done all these things, will some body tell us to what political stripe they belong. One thing is certain, every man Jack of them will be found voting for Grant in November. We suppose that is a tolerably searching test of what they can bear in the Republican line. If they stand that—surely they ought to be | edited and controlled by men who know considered in full affiliation, and no no more about the South than they do of comatese old biunderer like the Alta the source of the White Nile. Yet they ought to be allowed to ask what flippantly and falsely allege that th they have to do with the Republican

MR. GREELEY'S CAREER.

To what ridiculous assertions the Grant men are driven. The other night, at Virginia, Stewart said that "if Greeley had a million a year, he couldn't support himself." What moon-struck folly such twaddle is, is easily seen when we look at the record of Greeley's life. Beginning with nothing, by his genius, economy and industry, he founded and conducted to a successful issue one of the most difficult undertakings in the world. the successful establishment of a great daily newspaper. The Tribune is one of the first journals of the civilized world, and is a monument of the talents, the industry and integrity of Horace Greeley. Turning to the history of this blatant defamer of Mr. Greeley, we would like to ask Mr. Stewart whether he can show a more meritorious record, as the result of his career as a Comstock lawyer and United States Senator?

AGRICULTURAL REPORT .- We have received the Monthly Report of the Depertment of Agriculture, for August and September. It says that the cotton crop promises to be nine per cent. less than an average, but it is thought that the increased area of cultivation will cause an increase over the crop of 1871. The corn crop is expected to be largely over average. The wheat crop is very varied, some States falling much below, while others are far above, the average. As a whole, the crop is believed to be a full average one.

The Rev. A. N. Fisher, well received in this State as a distinguished minister of the M. E. Church, has been delivering a series of lectures in Carson. The lecturer has been very warmly complimented by the Carsonites on the ability and learning displayed in these efforts.

REGISTER! REGISTER!-Recollect that the Registration closes on Monday, 21st. All voters should hasten and qualify themselves to cast their ballots on the important issues before the country.

The Supreme Court of Nevada met on the 8th inst., when resolutions of respect for the late J. Neely Johnson were reported and ordered to be entered on the minutes. The Court adjourned until November 16.

As to the talk about conciliation, Democrats can do no more to conciliate than Republicans have already done - Greeley is no more magnanimous and kindly than Grant The Southern States have all the rights of the loyal States, and the late election in Georgia shows that they can as freely choose whom they will to ad-minister local affairs.—S. F. Bulletin.

It is conceded that in order to write intelligently or truthfully on any given subject, it is very essential that the author should know something of the matter which he attempts to discuss. But to this general rule the San Francisco Bulletin evidently imagines it is an exception, for in the quotation which heads this article, it places itself in the dilemma of betraying the grossest ignorance or uttering a malicious falsehood. We are charitable, and prefer to believe that the former is the trouble under which the Bulletin is laboring. It is like the vast majority of northern and western papers; it is content to accept the statements of those who have a direct interest in defaming the South, in order to continue the wholesale system of robbery which

Mr. Greeley, as the editor of the Tribune, was not content to receive and believe these ex parte tales from men who were enriching themselves from the very troubles that they pretended to deplore. Mr. Greeley went to the South himself. and moreover sent a number of able and reliable correspondents, who traveled over a great portion of that section. As to what they found, no matter what political party they belonged to, they all united in a common declaration-that the South was frightfully misgoverned; that it was being drained of its last dollar to pay the enormous taxes; that the debts of the States, counties and cities were being piled mountain high; that the governments of the several States were in the hands of the vicious and dishonest: in short, that ruin, financially, politically and socially, would be the lot of this unhappy people unless the State governments were placed in the hands of honest and capable men, and the then incumbents driven into obscurity or the penitentiary. This was the conclusion of the Tribune, the only Republican paper that either chose or dared to investigate the matter for itself. This was the judgment of Mr. Greeley, the only trustworthy Republican leader that personally visited the scenes where so many crimes in the name of Republicanism were daily being committed.

The verdict of these men was unbought; it was their honest conviction, reached after months of patient investigation. They had visited the South and judged for themselves, and in most cases had to condemn those that their own political predilections would have inclined them to support. Surely their opinion was entitled to respectful consideration, and all honest, thoughtful men will at least accord them that much. But now, in contrast to all this, look at the Bulletin, Southern States " have all the rights enjoyed by the loyal States," and point to Georgia as an example. Answering the latter first, we can tell the Radical Bulletin that it is true that Georgia can now elect those whom a majority of its people may desire, but it is equally true, that that could not be done until the carpetbag government was overthrown-until the robber Bullock. Grant's special pet, was compelled to flee the country-until a legislature actually elected by the people purged the State of the wretches that had robbed her, and the statutes of the infamous laws that protected them. Those are the reasons why Georgia was able to elect a Governor who is neither a rascal nor a robber, and consequently not a tool of Grant.

But turn to other States. To Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, Aarkansas: to

Is anybody bold or false enough to say that the people can there have equal privileges with the north? The whole machinery governing the use of the franchise is under the control of the present carpet-bag governments. Is any one idiot enough to think that they will loosen their grip until compelled? They will do as they have hitherto done-make a mockery of the franchise: as Warmouth, of Louisiana, did-declare men elected to the legislature who had never been in the parish for which they were returned; for whom not a single vote had been cast, and scarcely a man in the district had ever heard of them. These are the kind of privileges the South has. How would the Bulletin like the same system to be practiced when the Railroad Subaidy Question is voted on in San Francisco They ought to try it once, in order to be able to get a slight taste of the blessings of being governed by Grant's especial pet, a swindling carpet-bagger, and of enjoying equal electoral privileges with the people of the South!

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 14.-The Democratic State Central Committee issed an address this morning to the Democracy of Ohio reproaching them for the apathy shown in the late election and urging them to repair the mischief done by lying to Greeley in November. The address says the result of last Tuesday's election shows that Ohio was lost by the failure to poll a vote by the Democracy. Mortifying as the fact is, justice to the Liberal Republicans and an earnest desire to retrieve the misfortune, requires us to declare it.

DEATH OF JAMES W. COFFROTH.

We heard with singere regret of the death of this distinguished gentleman, who for so long has filled such a prominent place on the Pacific Coast among men distinguished for their talents, professional acquirements and political standing. We copy the following particulars from the Sacramento Union:

James W. Coffroth died suddenly at his residence on H street, between Eleventh street and Twelfth street. It appears, that while waiting for a street car to pass, in which to ride down to his office, suddenly he fell to the floor, without so much as an exclamation of pain. Messengers were dispatched for physicians, but the unfortunategentleman had been past relief from the time he fell. A post morten examination made subsequently, revealed the fact that death resulted from aneurism of the aorta, the latter, on breaking, having discharged its contents through the esophagus into the stomach, which was distended to its utmost size.

Deceased, who was a native of Franklin county, Pennsylvania, served an apprenticeship as a printer in the Keystone office, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, was correspondent of an Eastern journal from the battle-field during the Mexican war, came to California in 1849, when but about 20 years of age, and made his home in Columbia, Tuolumne county, where his talents soon brought him into prominence; while his ready wit and constant good nature caused him to become exceedingly popular. In 1852 he was chosen to represent the county in the Assemblyi and bore himself so well that his constituents sent him the next term to the S-nate, and continued him there until 1857, when he took up his residence in Sacramento, and has since then re-mained here. His legal attainments served to place him in the highest rank of the profession as a criminal lawyer, while his eloquence made him one of the most interesting of public speakers; and his thorough acquaintance with politics and politicians, and ready tact in dealing with them, rendered him a leading man in the party with which he affiliated. He was three times a candidate before the people for Congress from the Second District, and though unsuccessful in the various campaigns, yet his popularity was attested by the number of votes received by him in excess of those cast for the remainder of his ticket. A man of personal magnetism and social qualtiles, he attracted to himself a host of friends from among the people who became ac-quainted with him, and of these especially do Sacramentans, who lived and asso-ciated with him so long, deplore his untimely decease.
